- Become a source of knowledge; understand the products we sell and be able to confidently provide solutions
- Participate in our ProSource University training sessions
- Develop, build & maintain relationships with contractors and support team
- Be organized and proactive on important priorities
- Be a culture champion and emulate ProSource values

Requirements:

- In field experience of 3 years
- Strong leadership and communication skills
- Outstanding team player
- Self-motivated, able to work independently with tight deadlines and capable of managing numerous priorities at one time
- Inquisitive and independent learner, with a strong sense of initiative and concern for the customer
- Dedicated to meeting or exceeding expectations without being asked

- Able to navigate through difficult situations with minimal negative consequences on relationships
- Detail oriented, organized with excellent analytical and problem solving skills
- Excellent listening, observing, and questioning skills
- 2 years' experience in a similar retail and / or wholesale environment
- Ability to work with Outlook, Excel, Word and Point of Sales Software
- Ability to communicate proficiently in the English language
- Preference for:
 - IIIABC certification (or equivalent) CIT or CID
 - Knowledge of agriculture irrigation products and design
 - Ability to use and produce cad drawings

For the successful candidate we offer:

- Long term employment with numerous opportunities for advancement
- Competitive compensation with annual reviews / increases
- Continuous professional development through our ProSource University training programs
- Extended medical and dental benefits
- Opportunity to work with a profitable and growing BC owned company that is committed to growth and great experiences for our customers and team
- Completely supportive and encouraging environment
- Strong company values that respect our employees and customers

If you have the qualifications listed above and are interested in joining the ProSource team, please submit your resume and cover letter and include "Customer Service Representative" in the subject line to hr@prosourcesupply.ca.

We thank all applicants for their interest; however, only those candidates selected for an interview will be contacted.

We look forward to meeting you!
